New School Bond Issue Gets Boost

Representatives of Various City Organizations Back Movement

Sierra Madre Shown Derelict In Performance of Duty to Youth

Machinery was definitely set in motion Tuesday evening looking toward the floating of a $200,000 bond issue to provide for an entirely new grade school building in Sierra Madre.

This action was started at a meeting when a resolution was passed endorsing the recommendation of the School Board that such a building is an urgent necessity and within the ability of the city to finance.

The meeting was called by the local Chamber of Commerce and those present included invited representatives from every major organization in the city. After a thorough discussion of the matter of a new school, in which a great number of the forty-eight persons present participated, a motion was put to sound the sentiment of this group as a fairly reliable barometer of the feeling that might be expected from the city as a whole. There was not one dissenting vote and it was then suggested that there be a discussion of ways and means to thoroughly inform the public as to the needs and cost of such a bond issue.

The members of the school board were all present and expressed themselves in favor of a new school building, providing that was the will of the people whom they serve. It was brought out that the present school building rates only about thirty-three and a third percent efficient in arrangement, equipment and general conditions that contribute to the health of the pupils and the efficiency of the teachers. All of these facts were clearly brought out in a thorough survey made last spring by the Pasadena authorities and the various members of the local board merely recapitulated them.

The present conditions were declared frankly by a number of speakers to be a direct reflection upon the citizenry of Sierra Madre and a handicap to the growth of the city. The present school housing facilities were declared totally inadequate after 1931 unless as many more pupils are sent away as are now attending the first two grades of the Pasadena junior high.

Based upon the findings of the survey, J. O. Smith, president of the board of education, stated that a $200,000 bond issue would mean an increase in taxes of between $4.50 and $5.00 on a property valuation of $5,000. This would mean additional taxes of approximately ten cents per $100 worth of property per annum for a period of twenty years. It might be decided, however, to spread the bond issue over a greater length of time, which would of course lessen the annual tax increase.

Throughout the meeting there was noticeable a keen interest and an entire absence of discord. The various representatives apparently were willing, as was suggested, to serve as a committee of the whole, and to go about the city in an effort to educate and inform as many as possible upon the merits of the issue that is most vital to every citizen.

Mr. Smith pointed out that a new school building would be an investment rather than an expense and that property values would be bound to increase. Mrs. H. E. Allen, secretary of the school board, explained how Sierra Madre, when compared with eleven other cities of similar size and type, ranks fourth in ability to provide for the educational needs of her children, but stands eleventh or next to the last in actual performance of this duty which the nation recognizes as imperative.

The F. H. Hartman and son Drug Store is featuring this week a window display in keeping with the National Pharmacy Week. Crude drugs and apparatus necessary for the compounding of prescriptions are featured.

Mrs. Roe and daughter Olga of Santa Anita Court will move next week to near St. John's Episcopal Church on Figueroa.

BOOK AGENT PULLS "FAST ONE" ON SEVERAL LOCAL PEOPLE

"We are offering you a wonderful opportunity to get a set of our marvelous books for the mere cost of mailing—if you will look them over and just give us a letter voicing your honest opinion of them" was the song warbled by a recent book peddler in this city.

On checking up, it was discovered that the chap seemed to want recommendations more than he did money (at least much money) for he had his story and stuck to it in every instance.

No one knows how many local people "accepted" the books, but no sets have been received, though checks for "mailing costs" have, it is asserted, been cashed.

Legion to Install New Officers at Public Ceremony

A joint public installation of officers is being planned by Sierra Madre Post No. 297, American Legion and Auxiliary, for Thursday evening, October 24, at 8 o'clock, in the Masonic Hall.

An elaborate program has been prepared and those in charge state they may secure Burton Fitts, district prosecuting attorney, for the principal speaker of the evening. Phil Dodson, Sierra Madre city attorney, will also deliver an address.

Stewart Leading Western Division In Firestone Sales

The names "Ralph Stewart" and "Sierra Madre, Calif." were broadcast thruout this country last Monday night by the Firestone Tire Company in a national hook-up which included forty-three stations. The report came here over KFI of Los Angeles.

The broadcast announced the progress in the Firestone tire-selling contest which is being conducted after the fashion of the World's Series baseball game. Ralph Stewart, local Firestone dealer, was announced as leading the Western Division, which comprises the entire Pacific Coast.

Five "innings" of this great "game" had been played before this report was made and there are still "four to go," Ralph says. Inasmuch as the manner in which the contest is being conducted favors the smaller dealer as well as the large ones, he believes he stands an excellent chance of winning first honors when the last "ball is pitched." The sale of every tire or tube helps just that much and the results are based upon the quota assigned to each dealer. This quota is based upon the amount of business done in that territory last year. The winner will receive several hundred dollars in cash and a free trip back to the main factory at Akron, O. No wonder Ralph is trying to make "Sierra Madre the Championship City."

Mr. Stewart explains that there is bound to be quite a rush for tires due to the announcement this week by most of the tire companies that there had been a raise in prices.

Mr. Stewart returned to her home at 58 East Carter Monday after having spent several weeks visiting in Washington, D. C. She was accompanied on her trip by her sister, Mrs. Frances L. Neth of Los Angeles.

Healthy Condition Shown in Quarterly Statement of Bank

That the Sierra Madre Savings Bank is in excellently sound condition is shown by the quarterly financial report which appears on another page of this issue. H. E. Allen, president of this institution, states that he is very proud of the showing made during the past three months.

Practically 100 per cent of the stock in this bank is owned locally and the personnel of the directors is such as to inspire confidence among the depositors.

"Light" Is Main Topic Of Kiwanis

George Otte Receives Prize For Best Answers in Contest

"Light" was the topic of the meeting of Kiwanis Club this week, tying up with the nationwide tribute being paid to Thos. A. Edison in commemoration of the Golden Jubilee of his perfection of the incandescent electric light on October 21, 1879.

George Otte, a 12-year-old 8th grade pupil in St. Rita's parochial school, was a guest of honor due to his having won the handsome bronze plaque in the Edison questionnaire recently conducted by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce and the Sierra Madre News.

Public presentation of the medal was made at this meeting by Joseph L. Asbury, representing the News. George responded with a remarkably appropriate brief speech in which he thanked the newspaper, the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, and added that when Edison celebrates the Diamond Jubilee, 25 years from now, he hoped he would again be at the Kiwanis luncheon, but then as a regular member of the organization.

W. J. Ellery, assistant vice president of the Securities First National Trust and Savings Bank of Monrovia, was the speaker of the day, taking as his subject, "Light." He told of the early life of Thomas A. Edison and how he continually worked in his laboratory while yet a newsboy and later as a telegrapher.

Mr. Ellery stated that Edison has taken out some 11,500 patents so far which represent invested capital of $16,500,000,000 the world over, and furnish employment to millions of men and women.

On October 21 Henry Ford has arranged a big celebration at Ft. Dearborn, Mich., with Edison as honor guest, in which will be reenacted the scenes leading up to the perfection of the incandescent light bulb. A replica of this first bulb was exhibited by Mr. Ellery.

He explained that the sentiment back of this national tribute to Mr. Edison is to "give flowers to the living."

A number of visitors were present from Monrovia, Altadena and Alhambra. Announcement was made by President Grant that a boom is being launched by Byron Marriott, postmaster of Alhambra, for district lieutenant governor. Mr. Marriott has just recently been elected president of the Los Angeles County Postmasters Association and is very popular among Kiwanians.

Thrilling Picture At Cong. Church Friday, Oct. 25

"The Yankee Clipper" is the title of a thrilling 9-reel film to be shown Friday evening, October 25, at 7:30, in the social hall of the Congregational Church. A silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the Sunday School. The story, starring William Boyd, tells of a race between two "clipper" ships from China to Boston. Of course there is the delightful love theme running throughout.

A Halloween dinner and party, sponsored by the P.T.A. will be held Thursday, October 31, at 7 o'clock, presumably in the cafeteria of the school.

Scout Move Gets Good Start Here

Troop I Committee Formed and Competent Leader Chosen

Troop II Also Well Under Way—Workers Meet Tonight

With two troops of Boy Scouts active and the drive for funds drawing to a successful conclusion, Scouting in Sierra Madre is once more on a firm footing. Troop I, sponsored by St. Rita's Church has selected Wednesday nights for its meetings and has organized the following committee: Executive officer, Rev. Hyacinth Clarey; committee chairman, J. E. Marcotte; committee men, R. D. Armstrong, Everett Hinojos, W. J. Schiltz; Scoutmaster, William Barry. Ten boys have already applied for admission to the troop and the first meeting will be held next week.

Troop II, sponsored by the Congregational Church, held its first meeting last Friday night with seventeen candidates for membership present besides a good turnout of old members. Scoutmaster Evans will continue to act in that capacity for the present and will take the old members of the troop to Camp Huntington tonight while the candidates will meet for training with Vincent Fleming, one of the three men now being considered to succeed Mr. Evans, who feels constrained to give up the work through pressure of other business.

A meeting of the workers in the drive for funds with the campaign committee will be held at 7:30 tonight (Friday) in American Legion hall and all who have been soliciting contributions are urged to attend. It is the plan to have all cards and collections turned in, a final report made up, and the drive brought officially to a close. Members of the directing committee, however, will call next week upon those who have not yet been seen until the entire quota has been secured.

Up to last night about $600 had been raised in cash and pledges with several districts yet to be heard from. Because of the necessary delay it is not possible to print a complete report at this time but it is hoped to have in next week's News the final total received and complete list of contributors.

Association Praises Local Church Hosts To Big Convention

The Los Angeles Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers which convened in Sierra Madre Tuesday for their annual session, passed a resolution before they adjourned in which was embodied enthusiastic admiration for the new church plant and warm appreciation of the hospitality of the pastor, the membership, and especially to the ladies who served the representatives so excellently at luncheon and dinner.

Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, pastor of the local church and moderator for the past year, presided at the conference. Officers elected for the ensuing year included Rev. Holland F. Burr of Oneonta Church in South Pasadena, to succeed Rev. Pritchard as Moderator of the Association.

All Souls' Church of Los Angeles, headed by the Rev. Charles T. Aked, was voted into membership in the Association. A resolution introduced by Dr. E. P. Ryland of the Church Federation urging Governor Young to pardon Thomas Mooney who has already served 12 years in the state prison upon conviction of a charge of exploding a bomb, was offered. The case attracted world-wide attention years ago and now a strong effort is being made by the national Congregational organization and other influences to secure his pardon on the ground that Mooney was entirely innocent of the crime with which he was charged.

The Men's Community Club met at dinner with the Association Tuesday evening to hear Dr. Carl S. Patton talk upon "The National Religious Outlook," an address pronounced most inspirational. The chorus choir of the church sang preceding the address. The junior choir sang at the afternoon session.

ACCIDENT FOLLOWS ACT OF GOOD SAMARITAN LAST NIGHT

Just after having reported to Sierra Madre police that a woman was lying in the road on Foothill Blvd., H. F. Korleer of Monrovia, driving an Auburn roadster, was hurled into a 20-foot gully, near Baldwin and Live Oak, and suffered injuries which necessitated his being taken to the Monrovia hospital.

According to the police records, Mr. Korleer had attempted to pass a car driven by Irving Silverman, while returning to the Foothill Boulevard, the accident occurring as Silverman tried to make a left turn. Korleer suffered a broken ankle and other injuries, when his car landed bottom-side up in the big ditch on the Baldwin ranch, and has been unable as yet to give his version of the accident.

The police are of the opinion that the woman had been thrown out of a speeding car.

Red Cross Plans Roll Call Soon

Local Workers at Regional Conference to Outline Drive

Resume Shows This City Not Lacking in the Time of Need

Many Sierra Madre workers were present at the regional conference of the Red Cross Chapters of Southern California held in Los Angeles last Friday. Final plans were made for the annual roll call and a number of addresses given covering every activity of Red Cross work.

W. R. Humphries, local chapter chairman, explained the methods used here in conducting the drive for membership and outlined briefly the work accomplished here during the past 12 months.

The disaster committee is working with District Ranger Vetter of the Forestry Service regarding assistance that Red Cross might render in time of forest fires. Mr. Vetter suggested emergency kits that may be sent promptly to the scene of disaster, suitable clothing for fire fighters, and a nurse to render them first aid in case of need. These suggestions will be given consideration by the disaster committee in their general plan of action.

Headquarters acknowledgment of the receipt of 15 Christmas bags has been made. The work of Mrs. Fred Griebenow and her production committee, with their promptness and efficiency in filling Sierra Madre's production quota, has been an important factor in giving the chapter its present enviable reputation. The work of the Junior Red Cross, under Miss Elizabeth Steinberger's direction, has been another assisting factor. These two lines of work have gone on in such an unassuming manner that many people have not appreciated their extent and importance.

A letter from the Los Angeles County Tubercular and Health Association has been received thanking the local chapter for co-operation and support in the recent summer health school.

George Ogg generously offered the use of a typewriter when Mrs. Barker made a plea for the use of one in a particular case.

Tonight, (Friday, Oct. 18) the second lesson will be given in the First Aid class. The class is not completed as regards numbers so there is still an opportunity for those interested to join.

Local plans are being made for an intensive and quick drive this year for the quota of 750 members. It is the intention of the local chapter to do this work in at least three days and already a response is being felt as many regular renewals are coming by mail to W. R. Humphries, chapter chairman. Memberships coming at this time will relieve the work later on.

Everyone knows of the work of the national organization and the record of the local chapter must be kept. Looking back over the past twelve months we find that much good work has been accomplished here, and it takes money to do this work. Only a little of the money paid here for membership goes to the national organization at Washington. The expense of obtaining 750 members is practically nil as the work is done by volunteer workers who are proud to be able to do their bit for humanity.

Marion Solury was one of 200 girls from various colleges attending a very lovely formal tea at Ramona Convent, Alhambra, Saturday. Miss Solury, with a group of students, lunched Sunday with friends in Hollywood, and had dinner in Altadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Denni of Wilmington, former residents of this city and parents of Mrs. E. Neuman of North Auburn, will leave Saturday, October 26, for an extended tour of South American countries. They will be gone until about February 1.

St. Rita's Annual Bazaar will be held this year on Thursday, November 21. Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. Entertainment will be provided and all sorts of fancy articles will be offered for sale.

Australian Lecture Is Real Treat

Educational Committee of Woman's Club Is Sponsor

Colonel Wilbur S. Tupper is scheduled to appear at the Woman's Club house on Friday night, October 25, at 8 o'clock in a lecture on Australia and New Zealand. This lecture is presented by the Educational department of the club, co-operating with the Parent Teacher Association and the school. Mrs. Harold E. Allen, chairman of the Educational department of the club, extends an invitation to older school children to attend this talk which will be illustrated with colored slides.

During his stay in New Zealand the lecturer was the guest of the Dominion government and was given every opportunity for observation and investigation. In Australia, likewise, special governmental facilities were put at his disposal. This official cooperation makes the lectures adequate and authoritative.

New Zealand holds, in compact area, the greatest and most varied of scenic attractions and the northern region abounds in every form of hydrothermal action. Spouting geysers, boiling lakes, roaring steam vents and seething mud pools as well as the fascinating Maori village, where natives cook their food in the boiling stream, are among the things described. Kangaroo and boomerang tells of Australia, oldest of continents and last to yield to civilization. Here, within ten miles of a city of more than a million people, where may be found the most primitive types of life in the world, the tourist may see the Blackfellow throw his boomerang. What the world was, countless ages ago, Australia, in some of its life forms, is today.

This lecture is open to the public and admission is free.

Merchants Favor Parking Limit in Business Section

A resolution favoring the passing of a city ordinance restricting parking on business streets of Sierra Madre was the main business transacted by the Retail Merchants Credit Association at their regular monthly meeting Monday evening at the Park Club house. The prevailing opinion was that a two-hour limit should be established.

The matter of closing on Armistice Day was revived and there seemed to be considerable difference of opinion, even though a majority voted some time ago not to close that day because the stores in neighboring towns are reported to remain open.

A regular "he-man's" feed was served by Ralph Stewart and Joe Belohlavek, Jr. The fifteen merchants present were Ray Grant, president; Austin Gibbs, W. E. Craig, Tom Tyler, J. L. Asbury, C. B. Klunk, Ralph Stewart, Joe Belohlavek, Jr., F. E. Hartman, Henry Olsen, Tom Solury, J. F. Sadler, Fred Griebenow, Milton Steinberger and Henry Greger.

Kiddies, Not Golf, Are His Recreation

Retired Business Man Finds Health and Happiness Here

O. T. Weidman, known and beloved by almost every school child in Sierra Madre as "Uncle Wiggly," celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday Tuesday of this week by having a large birthday cake baked at the Home Bakery and sent up to the school at noon as a surprise treat for his youngster friends. The kiddies each had a generous piece of this huge cake, which made them praise and marvel at his unique thoughtfulness.

One year ago Mr. Weidman, a returned business man from Long Beach, came to Sierra Madre to recuperate from the results of a severe attack of flu. His favorite pastime has been the amusement of children thru games and frolics which they enjoy. It did not take the children of Sierra Madre long to find this out and today half of the children here either know "Uncle Wiggly" personally or have heard other children tell of his tricks and kindness to them.

At his home in Long Beach the entire back yard has been converted into a playground for the benefit of his host of little friends there. Four swings, four horizontal bars, an overhead ladder, a teter-round, aerial trolley and large sand box comprise the apparatus.

When he is home most of his time is devoted to children who come in groups to visit and enjoy his playground. When resting from strenuous play he gathers them under a big shade tree and reads them children's stories from his private library, selected for the purpose.

He has also discovered that healthy children are nearly always hungry. A picnic table with seats occupies a cozy corner in the yard, where he frequently serves a picnic luncheon to his little guests. Many of the stunts and games he uses to entertain the children are original, and to use a common phrase, they are "crazy" about them.

"Uncle Wiggly" visits the day nurseries, schools, orphanages, etc., to entertain the little ones. Always on the alert to be doing something to bring happiness to children, he visits them when they are ill and confined to their homes, cheering them up by reading children's stories and otherwise taking their minds from their illness. He is frequently a guest at their little birthday parties and a riot of fun and frolic ensues.

The father of four children and grandfather of two, all of whom live away back East, accounts for the broad scope of "Uncle Wiggly's" interest in all children wherever he happens to be.

One of his many diversions is to carve out little Missions from soap, which he presents to little children on their birthdays. For ten years he has made a study of children, principally from that angle of the home where they are natural and off their guard. He warns parents not to be influenced by every article they may read about "How to Bring Up Children," and thinks much of the "scare" about germs, kidnappers, etc., are positively silly and rarely justifies the reaction of fear and over-caution so harmful to a child's mind. "Uncle Wiggly's" activities among children have been in the background for years and only recently leaked out. He is jolly, good-natured, happy and has a kind word for everybody, especially children.

Hartman's One-Cent Sale, November 7, 8 and 9.

When in Sierra Madre he is at home at 57 West Montecito. It is needless to say that children love him, only as children can. The climate here is much to his liking and he expects to spend most of his time here and eventually hopes to know every child in town.

The nickname, "Uncle Wiggly," was applied by a sweet little 4-year-old girl in Long Beach over five years ago and has followed him ever since.

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

Our chief had come early to the meeting place last Friday evening and parked his new Ford as near to the entrance of the city hall as the law would permit. Knowing that the entire police force and fire department would be on hand soon, Bill neglected to remove the key from the switchboard. Nearing 7:30 it was suddenly noticed that the chief's Ford had been moved—or stolen. Without displaying any alarm the "Boss" ordered the return of the car. No one seemed to know anything about the strange disappearance of the Ford, so no move was made to recover it. Louie Karger said, "Dat's a goot von, der whole police department here and somebody stole der chief's car."

Just then the telephone rang and John "Goofus" called, saying he saw the fire chief's car being driven along Carter Avenue. Immediately the whole police force went out after it and it was soon returned.

There was no absolute proof as to who the offender was, but one of the members was accused and his trial will come up later. The defendant has no witnesses, while the entire department is willing to fine him on suspicion. An interesting trial is anticipated.

One evening a week or so ago, the boys had gathered a lot of newspapers and employed George Norris' old delivery car to haul 'em in. Everything went well until the Ford was parked against the curb on the opposite side of the street. To avoid carrying the papers across the street, Louie said he would drive the machine into the city hall. That was O.K. with the members assembled, so Louie sets to work. After many loud explosions from corrosions, the engine was finally started and Louie yelled "Look out!" And "look out" it was, for instead of backing away from the curb, the old wreck went up over it and headed for the rear end of the new bakery. Realizing his predicament, Louie tried another pedal and backed over the curb again. In order to stop the thing he pushed another pedal, this time heading for the plate glass windows of the small grocery store, but for some unknown reason, Louie pressed another pedal and got the broncho stopped. (The proprietor of this store evidently saw this performance for he is now installing sliding doors in the front.) By this time Louie had enough and said "Let Chorge do it."

partment took in the Red Cross instructions last Friday evening. Fire Chief Lawrence of Vista was also a visitor and enjoyed the class.

While waiting for the First Aid boys to attend the regular meeting, Tom Schwartz, Don Hosford, Gordon Brooks and Bob Babbitt had their usual session of rollicksome, wholesome and healthful arguments. Due to this arrangement, Louie was forced to move his Southwest Corner to the equator, where Gordon McMillan made it hot for Jim Heasley for a few minutes. Despite the "equatorial" position, George Cox and Steve Petsel kept quite cool and took in the situation with calmness and steady hands. Despite the heat, the air in this locality was fair.

Our real and regular meeting accomplished many things. Committees were appointed to act on the baseball grounds, and a committee to meet with the Chamber of Commerce. The usual members paid the usual fines and then some. Knowing that Mrs. Hibbs had prepared some real potato salad and home-made cake, shouts of "adjourn" were heard all through the meeting and soon won a motion and second. 'Twas some feed and Joe Swanson's coffee didn't cast any shadows on it either.

Assistant Chief George Norris insists that we "blow our horn" and let 'em know, we are the best fire department in California, but Mattie says, "It's all right to blow your horn, but don't run your battery down."

Fire's Out!

Local Hospital Is 'Too Busy' to Hold Formal Reception

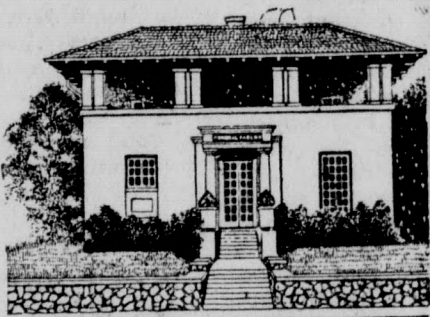

The Sierra Madre Hospital, again under the ownership of Dr. G. W. Groth, is entering a fine period of prosperity. Dr. Groth has been planning an "opening" and reception for some weeks past, but finds that it has been impossible to throw the hospital open for inspection owing to the number of patients registered.

The hospital is open to all practicing physicians in Sierra Madre, and Dr. Groth also has secured the services of eminent specialists from Pasadena as occasion requires.

The hospital fills a real need in the community and Dr. Groth's many friends here will wish him a maximum of success.

Unlicensed Dogs In for Strenuous Existence Here

Police Chief Gordon McMillan has set November 1 as the dead line for canines whose masters have failed to "decorate the mahogany" at the city hall with sufficient coin of the realm to secure a licence entitling said dog to legal existence.

Mr. McMillan estimates that approximately half of the dogs in the city are now unlicensed, and he proposes to see that the tax is collected—or that the city becomes host to fewer dogs. If conditions in certain cases warrant, he says, owners may be prosecuted or the dogs picked up—or both. The city tax on dogs is $2 for males and $4 for females.

THE TIME IS RIPE

THERE is a right time for everything
and, regardless of past experiences, now is the time for the people of Sierra Madre to get solidly and persistently behind the movement for a new grade school building.

At the meeting called by the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening of this week,
the leaders of practically every organization
in the city were present and there was not one dissenting vote when the question was put to endorse the recommendation of the School Board that a bond issue of approximately $200,000 be floated for the construction of a new up-to-date grade school building and the acquisition of a little more ground for play purposes.

Political differences and personal animosities that may have existed in the past apparently were all forgotten as the outstanding leaders of city affairs frankly discussed this matter of such vital importance to the community. "There was a manifestation of a get-together spirit that was extremely encouraging to the success of the venture.

The feeling was that the meeting should be turned over to a discussion of ways and means of putting the bond issue over, rather than to an argument as to whether we need and can afford a new school. The latter was taken as an accepted fact in view of the recent survey and report conducted by the Pasadena school system at the request of a local committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

Out of twelve cities in Southern California that compare fairly with Sierra Madre in size, wealth, etc., this city was shown to rank fourth in ability (assessed valuation of property and present bonded indebtedness) to provide public schools, but ELEVEN-TH in performance of such provision. This is a shameful reflection upon Sierra Madre with all its natural charm and other attractions, and if our judgment has not completely erred, the people are going to rise up in vehement protest against the continuation of such a condition.

All intelligent people will be quick to see the urgent need of replacing the present
school structures which are poorly lighted, ill-ventilated, inadequately equipped and in general rate only about 33 and one-third
per cent efficient, according to the survey previously mentioned.

A united sentiment back of this movement means more than just a new school building. It means the burial of the old war hatchet which has so effectively barred the progress of this fair city. The cost will not be prohibitive by any means. The survey shows that for a property worth $5000 the additional taxes for the new school building will not exceed $5 per year,
and this bond issue spread over a period of thirty years would cost the owner of a $5000 property only something like $150 in all. Is the health and general welfare of your children and your neighbor's children worth that much to you? If so, then get out and talk up this proposition for all your worth. If not, then be open-minded when someone comes to "educate" you.

A REAL CHANCE FOR SERVICE

AT their regular meeting two weeks ago,
the Volunteer Firemen of this city,
who already have established an enviable reputation for doing things, unanimously decided to undertake the task of building
a baseball diamond on the city property on East Grand View.

Many thought this action would be the forerunner of other volunteer movements
looking toward the building of a real city park. But such has not been the case. Perhaps when the Firemen complete the diamond they will continue their good work by contributing more of their energy. But even if this were their present intention it would ill behoove us a community to permit them to do it. Civic pride should make us insist on each one getting a chance to do something toward giving the young people of the city a real recreation park.

The young people of this city are not contented. Several incidents in the near past prove this conclusively. And perhaps an analysis will reveal the fact that it is not entirely their fault. Young people naturally turn to athletics as an outlet for pent-up energy. And when their bodies are tired their minds need relaxation. We have little or no facilities for recreation and the same equipment for mental relaxation.

True, the Boy Scout movement will aid materially in both directions, but not all the boys of the city will have the opportunity to join—and the activities of the Scouts will be greatly hampered by lack of recreational facilities.

A good public park, with ball grounds,
tennis courts, handball courts, etc., would do a great deal to minimize the unrest among the younger residents. Do we not owe a duty to these young people to see that such facilities are provided?

One organization is showing the way—
let every organization and society in the city take over a small part of a well-planned project and observe how rapidly and how easily the entire project can be developed.

The development of a park, under such circumstances, would be of secondary importance to the feeling of friendliness and cooperation that would tend to unite this community in a bond that would bode well
for the future.

The city planning commission has had maps and tentative plans prepared for some time past. As soon as the "o.k." of the council is secured, the Firemen will be able to go ahead with their project—and others can make their project selections and join in the good work.

BRIGHT LIGHT OF PUBLICITY

AGAIN we feel an impulse to blush for the newspaper profession. Some of our colleagues in Southern California are edifying their readers by publication in boldfaced type a serial entitled "Eunice Prin-gle's Own Life Story." Eunice Pringle, it may be recalled, is the unfortunate young lady who is alleged to have suffered certain brutalities at the hands of a Los Angeles theatre magnate. Aside from this lamentable experience the child seems to have led a life as uneventful as a hearth-rug kitten
and her "own life story" has about as much claim to public interest as the memoirs of a crawfish. It is bad taste enough for the victim of police court notoriety to exploit her personality in a signed autobiography.
But it is much worse for newspapers to capitalize such drivels in an appeal for morbid readers.—Fullerton Tribune.

GOVERNMENT COMPETITION

THERE is much said these days about what the government should do for the farmer, but little is made of the fact that the government is, and has been for years past, in competition with the country printer on a basis that is actually costing the government money.

If the department of agriculture should contract with an organization of poultry raisers, hog raisers or wheat raisers to furnish it certain amounts of these products
which it, in turn, would sell at prices impossible for small farmers to meet, the situation would be the same as that faced by the printers of the country who cannot meet government competition in printing return addresses on stamped envelopes.

His only help is the loyalty of some of the home home-town business people who appreciate good printing and the need of a home newspaper.

STILL RED-BLOODED AMERICANS

SOME persons claim that young people today are short in their moral standards. This is a mistake. They may be freer in their actions but they are better informed on social pitfalls than were their brothers and sisters a generation ago. We read about slick-haired shies and flapping flappers, but we overlook the big army of wholesome young Americans who are interested in manly and womanly sports.

Artificial civilization has not taken away from the majority of us our delight in the primitive things of life—camping, fishing, horseback riding, mountain climbing, etc.
A large percentage of magazines and books
are devoted to stories of action, adventure,
frontier happenings and deeds of heroism.

Reservations

By J. R. E.

Just for curiosity's saks, what we want to know is: what punishment awaits the singing teacher who tells his pupils that a few lessons will put them in line for roles in grand opera.

We know now what makes chewing gum wriggly. Waiting for the scores in a world series game.

And what we can't understand is, with the bootleggers being killed off by hijackers, and the customers being killed off by the booze, how does the supply and demand happen to remain at par?

These are days of sackcloth for U.C.L.A. undergraduates and alumni. Their football team is being kicked around by other teams of the conference in a manner that admits of nothing
but groaning and lamentation
from their adherents. But buck up, folks; cogitate upon the "A"
rally that overcame an 8-run lead in the seventh—and put a world series on ice. The day is coming when a U.C.L.A. team will tramp
up and down the coast, proud monarch of all it surveys—and the dark days of the Middle Ages
(i.e. the transition from the college conference to Big Time) will be forgotten.

"Reservations" can remember
when Northwestern University
was a door-mat for the Big Ten.
One of these years, the N.U. varsity will take the conference championship—not this year, but soon.

Cheer up, U.C.L.A.—your turn

Los Angeles is getting better.
Last week only TWO women were wantonly shot by drunken thugs driving as-yet-unidentified

But while the police may be slow in rounding up the criminals, there is nothing slow about the way Buron Pitts handles them when they arrive in his

should be duly grateful to him,
and for him.

Just as we were beginning to

The Cub rooters who sank with

Huh! For some years past American motorists have been noting cars standing by the roadside,
not only folded up, but some of them very cleverly telescoped.

the lines tell the story.

Another Old-Timer Joins Calif. Fruit Growers Exchange

Another old-timer among the ranks of the so-called independent shippers in the California citrus industry, the East Highland Citrus Association, has joined the big citrus cooperative group, the California Fruit Growers Exchange, according to announcement from the latter organization. The new Sunkist association has affiliated with the Redlands-Highlands Fruit Exchange, which is the district or sub-exchange organization in that producing area.

The association expects to ship
around 150 carloads of Navel
oranges during the next season.
Their fruit is known for its fine quality and grade, being among the best Navel orange packs in the state.

Officers and directors of the East Highlands Citrus Association
are: G. W. Beattie, president, Highland; F. L. Pierce, vice-president, Highland; H. C. Draper, secretary and manager, Highland; W. J. Kinley, Highland; H.
D. Bristol, Highland; D. S. Draper, Highland; J. F. Gore, Santa Monica.

Exchange membership has recently made large gains in the big Navel orange districts surrounding Redlands and Riverside.
Among the old and well known local groups to come under the big cooperative's banner in those districts during the past two seasons are the Redlands Orange Growers Association; Highland
Citrus Association; Highland
Orchards; Elephant Orchards, Redlands; and the National Orange Company; L. V. W. Brown
Estate; Riverside Orchards; Alta
Cresta Groves and Criterion
Groves all of the Riverside district.

Kiwanis Aids Children of The Humble

Eighty Percent of Crippled Children Are of Poor Parentage

Though Kiwanis International, with its 1815 clubs in the United States and Canada, does not limit its assistance to only crippled children, the service organization has found in the last fourteen years that educational campaigns for the prevention of diseases is as vital a need as later rehabilitation through surgery and general treatment.

"Kiwanis has found that at least 80 per cent of the crippled children come from homes where parents are too poor to secure aid," says Horace W. McDavid, president, of Decatur, Illinois. "Therefore, Kiwanians have financed clinics, crippled children's wards, purchased educational facilities, and found vocational employment for boys and girls after the hospitalization period."

One of the interesting phases of child work that is now being stressed by Kiwanis emphasizes the need of a personal service. At first Kiwanis gave sums of money from time to time. Soon, however, this was felt as not sufficient.

"Now a member pledges himself to take almost a parental interest in a child," says Mr. McDavid. "A child, crippled, orphaned, or otherwise unfortunate, becomes a responsibility. A Kiwanian counsels and guides a child in its physical, educational and vocational welfare. Of course this is only done on the consent of parents or guardians."

This assistance is given to girls as well as boys, and record show that thousands of cases have been under supervision during the last fourteen years. The organization which now has over 102,000 members is also active in citizenship training, development of better relations between the urban and rural groups, and all general civic endeavors.

The faculty committee acting as advisors for the society are Mrs. Anna Mary Magnuson, Miss Mildred Scott and Miss Pauline Handy, chairman.

Strange and uncanny even to doctors, are many of the diseases of mankind not understood by medical scientists. No cure is known for dread cancer growths. Pelagra, a languishing illness which slowly eats away vitality, is also a mysterious malady yet unsolved. Leprosy, making rotten the flesh of its victims is also a fearsome disease because cure is seldom effected. But no more strange and weird are these diseases than Paget's disease an affliction which slowly dissolves the body's bone structure. Scientists know little about it because only six cases have ever been brought to their attention. There is one case in Southern California. Joseph Mayott, 54, Spanish American war veteran, has discovered that in nine years he became nine inches shorter. Doctors at Sawtelle believe his disease need not be fatal, and that he might live 50 years more. Mayott spends part of his time figuring what his height will be in fifty years if he continues to shrink at the present rate.

Lyric Offers Fine Film Productions For Coming Week

"In the Headlines," Warner Bros. new all talking Vitaphone production which comes to the Monrovia Lyric Oct. 25-26, is an authentic picturization of newspaper life. James Atherton Starr is one of the best known newspapermen in the West, and is the writer of the original story. One of the many ways in which newspapers solve baffling murder mysteries single-handed is graphically revealed in the picture.

Talking films offer an unique advantage to Laura Hope Crews, famous stage actress, who makes her debut on the audible screen in Paramount's picturization of W. Somerset Maugham's "Charming Sinners," which will show at the Lyric October 20-21.

"Lucky Star" opens Tuesday, October 22 for a three-day run. Guinn Williams proved his mettle when he went through the final scene nursing a broken collar bone, received when his horse stepped in a gopher hole. It is a film story with plenty of the thrilling action that film fans like to see on the screen.

Francis X. Bushman Will Play Role at The Playhouse

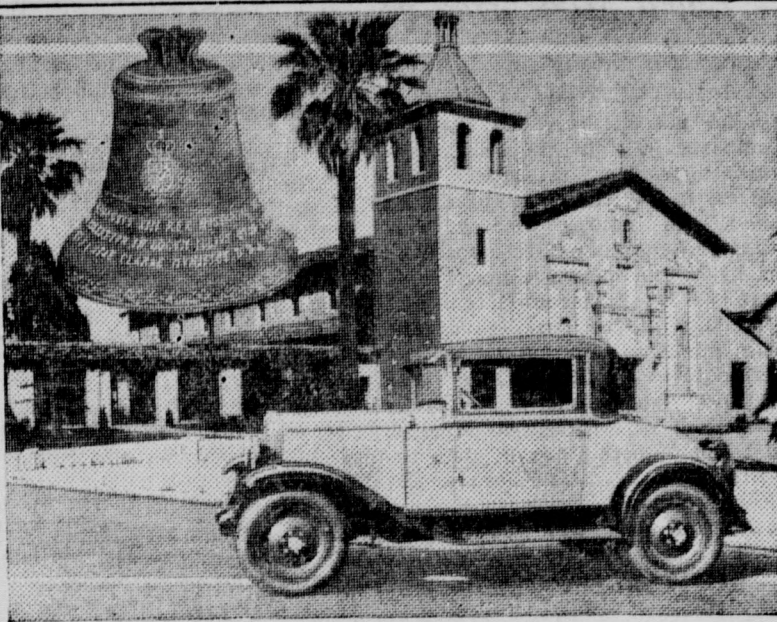

Francis X. Bushman, pioneer screen hero will appear as the guest star at the Pasadena Community Playhouse in the spectacular production of "Julius Caesar" opening at that famous theatre, Tuesday, Oct. 22. Bushman will play Antony opposite Gilmore Brown in the role of Brutus in a marvelous production of this Shakespearean classic staged with great mass movements of armies, triumphal processions and mobs against gorgeous backgrounds planned by Janis Muncie, Russian scenic artist.

Gilmore Brown, recognized as a leading Shakespearean actor, has played over 25 roles from the Elizabethan dramatist's plays, several of them as the guest star of the Greek Theatre at the University of California.

Bushman made his debut on the stage in a Shakespearean repertoire in Baltimore.

Bell Forged in Royal Foundries

Property owners along the Oxnard-Santa Monica Highway have practically completed the job of fencing their property, thus virtually excluding the public from the beach along a stretch of 35 miles. The blame for this condition is not placed entirely upon the property owners; most of it lying with the public which performed many acts of vandalism before it was found necessary to erect the fences.

When C. Allan Braun of Pasadena felt the urge toward cleanliness he choose the wrong time and the wrong place in which to perform his ablutions. He washed his hands in the rivulet in San Antonio Canyon recently, and it just happened that a ranger came along at an inopportune time. The net result was that Braun was haled into court on a charge of polluting a mountain stream and when found guilty was assessed the not inconsiderable sum of $30. It is all right to prefer cleanliness to dirt, but a person must use discretion.

U.S.C. Holds Lead Among All Teams For High Scoring

University of Southern California's football squad, which holds the lead among all the teams of the country for high point scoring during the past five-year period, appears to be out to retain that leadership this season. Already the Trojans in three games have run up a total of 145 points for an average of 48.3 points per contest.

Stanford, which has played one more game than the Trojans, is in second place with 141 points, an average of 35.25 points per game.

The Trojans and the Bears of U. C. will play before a sell-out crowd at the Los Angeles Coliseum Nov. 2, according to Asst. Gen. Manager Arnold Eddy of the Trojans. More than three weeks before the date of the game, the Coliseum was completely sold out.

A sell out is also certain for the Trojan-Stanford game on October 26, at Stanford.

This machine sold 6,364 Carloads of fruit this year

A single example of how the California Fruit Growers Exchange builds higher returns for its members.

TEN YEARS AGO, anybody who asked for fresh orange juice was considered a "crank." It was too much trouble to make it.

Today fresh orange juice is the national drink. And its popularity is increasing vastly every year. Why? Largely because of a simple electrical device conceived, perfected and marketed by the California Fruit Growers Exchange. This machine, the Sunkist Extractor, is now in use in 54,194 soda fountains, hotels, hospitals, and restaurants throughout America.

This season alone, these Extractors consumed 2,709,700 boxes of Oranges and Lemons... based on the very conservative estimate of 50 boxes (37 boxes of oranges and 13 boxes of lemons) a year per machine. (Metropolitan drink stands have used as high as 200 boxes a week!) The American public paid $63,352,786.00 for the 633,527,860 drinks this fruit represents, at 10 cents a drink.

Without the Extractor, this money would have been spent for other beverages. Thus the Extractor has created its own, great new market for citrus fruits. And growers profit accordingly.

The sensational success of the commercial Extractor prompted the Exchange to develop "Sunkist Junior," the new electrical juice extractor for home use. This sturdy, convenient and economical machine has now been on the market scarcely 18 months. Yet it is already in use in over 44,000 homes. And tests indicate that the presence of Sunkist Junior in any home materially increases that family's consumption of Oranges!

The possibilities of the Junior Extractor are even greater than those of its successful "big brother!"

Both of these Extractors are Exchange developments from start to finish, conceived to further the prosperity of Exchange growers, by expanding the market for citrus fruits. They form but one example of the aggressive, efficient and profit-yielding service that Exchange growers are getting every day in the year.

This is the kind of alert, intelligent marketing skill that brings Exchange growers the highest returns for their fruit... as comparative figures prove year after year. And this is the efficiency that enables the Exchange to give all its services to members at less than the marketing cost alone of any other citrus organization.

For further information about the Exchange, talk to your nearest District Exchange or Exchange Association manager. Or address Growers Service Bureau, California Fruit Growers Exchange, Box 530, Station "C," Los Angeles.

What the Exchange is: The California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit organization of 12,000 California citrus fruit growers, producing more than 75% of the California citrus crop, operated by and for them on a cooperative basis. Its object is to develop the national and international market for California Oranges, Lemons and Grapefruit, and to provide a marketing organization that will sell the fruit of its members most advantageously and at least expense. Receipts from sales, less only actual cost of operation, are returned to growers. Applications are received through all the Exchange's 207 local packing associations, 23 District Exchanges, or at the central office in Los Angeles.

Woman's Club Notes

DR. ROMAN'S FORUM STARTS WITH DINNER

Dr. Roman's Forum, a series of classes in adult education sponsored by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, will be auspiciously inaugurated on Monday evening, October 28, with a 6:30 dinner to be served at the club house under the direction of Mrs. Wm. R. Lees. Reservations should be made by phoning her at Green 79.

These meetings, other than the first one, will not be dinner affairs and will begin at 7:30 o'clock. They will be held the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The charge for the dinner will be 75c and for individual lectures a charge of 50c will be made. The cost of the entire course for the year, however, will be only $5. All voting members of the Woman's Club may attend the lectures free.

The following excerpts from a letter written to Mrs. J. H. Robertson, president of the club, by Dr. Roman from London, on September 26, gives some idea of the treat in store for those who attend this first affair:

"I plan to leave Liverpool on Saturday, and I hope to be in Los Angeles on October 15th. I expect to be with your forum group in Sierra Madre on Monday night, October 28, and will carry out the work program that we had under discussion last spring. But for the first night it is my intention to discuss the present political and economic situation in Europe, and give a clear idea of what is taking place, particularly in Italy and Russia. Later on we will have meetings dealing with our interviews with Lloyd George, Lord Cecil, Lord Grey, and with Premier Briand and with the Soviets in Moscow.

"I am looking forward to developing the work in your town. You have an enthusiastic group and I am deeply pleased with the spirit which you and your supporters have shown."

The opening lecture on Contemporary Literature will be presented to members of the Woman's Club next Wednesday, October 23, by Mrs. Otis B. Manchester of South Pasadena. Mrs. Manchester needs no introduction to the club, having been curator of the Book Review Section last year. Her book talk on Wednesday will cover "A Preface to Morals," by Walter Lippmann; "Mansions of Philosophy," by Will Durant; "Women's Poetry in the World Today," by L. W. Smith; "Scarlet Sister Mary" by Julia Peterkin, which received the Pulitzer prize award, and "Kid," by Gordon Daviot. These will be followed by a review and discussion of New York's leading plays including "The Street Scene," by Elmer Rice.

Mrs. Manchester is a discerning critic, a woman of poise, culture and discrimination and enlivening humor, with a charm of manner which has endeared her to many audiences and has won her national recognition. Her constant effort is to bring to the attention of readers, books with constructive qualities and visions and the latest and best. A brief resume of current events, men and affairs of the world opens her talks, followed by mention of magazines of particular value and poetry of the day, general literature, fiction and drama.

Mrs. Corita Lieben, contralto will contribute a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. R. M. Finlayson at the piano.

Preparations are being made for a Junior and Senior Halloween dance at the Woman's Club Saturday night, October 26. Arrangements are in charge of the Juniors.

The Sierra Madre Woman's Club was represented at the President's Council in South Pasadena, October 10, by Mrs. John H. Robertson, president, Mrs. J. M. Campbell and Miss Edna R. Green.

Announcement of a rummage sale is made by Mrs. Walter E. Poehler, chairman of the Philanthropy department, for some time in November.

The Drama Section is planning a breakfast group under the direction of Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger. The first meeting will be held the third Monday in November at Mrs. Steinberger's home. Presentation of two plays is planned for the year for the club.

Mrs. Philip W. Senour, chairman of American Citizenship and cooperation with war veterans, announces the annual 500 and bridge benefit party for Soldier's Welfare, to be held at the Club house on the evening of November 2. Following a program refreshments will be served. A 50c admission will be charged. A committee composed of Mrs. J. N. Hawks, Mrs. Harvey Steinberger, Mrs. J. M. Campbell, Mrs. W. D. Richards, Mrs. M. D. Welscher, Mrs. Wm. Lees and Mrs. Wm. H. Butts will assist. Proceeds go for Christmas boxes.

Fame of Wistaria Town Spreads Thru Local Meat Dealer

And still the fame of Sierra Madre as the "Wistaria Town" is spread abroad! In the September issue of "The Morrell Magazine" appears an interesting article on the Woman's Page telling about the famous wistaria vine here and the annual fete sponsored by the Woman's Club.

It will be remembered that last year one of the features of the fete was the ham served at the refreshment booth. This was procured from Charles E. Davis, proprietor of the Central Market, and local Morrell dealer, who reports that there has been a noticeably steady growth in the demand for this well-known product.

The Morrell Magazine is sent all over the United States and such publicity for Sierra Madre is very desirable indeed.

Ghost Town Now Leader In Industry

Lime from Sea Shells Puts Town of Alviso Back
On Map

When the pioneers tramped overland to settle the great West, they came upon certain sites which they believed would develop into metropolises. On these locations the pioneers established town-sites and waited for them to develop. Some of these spots grew to vindicate the beliefs of their discoverers, while others merely slept in the western sun and became known as "ghost" towns. The phrase "ghost" town has come to mean a symbol of anything which bore promise, but which did not fulfill all expectations. Scattered thruout the states of Oregon, Washington, California, Arizona, Texas, Utah and Nevada are many of these "ghost" towns and they all tell a story.

When the Spanish Conquistadores gaily swung thru the Santa Clara Valley in the halcyon days of California, some of them turned to the interior of the state, seeking inland waterways. A few of these adventurers, cognizant of the fact that the Golden Gate Strait had been discovered where the San Francisco Bay joins the Pacific Ocean, decided to find the other end of the bay. This they did and the town of Alviso sprang up. Geographically, Alviso, at the headwaters of the bay, seemed a very logical spot from which to ship the products of the interior and it was expected to rival San Francisco in maritime importance.

Shortly after railroads came into the territory and nullified the strategic importance of Alviso. Strenuous efforts have been made at different times in the past fifty years to make Alviso a shipping center, but all efforts have failed. Today Alviso is known to thousands in the great West as the center of the lime industry. In this town sea shells, which abound in the bed of the bay and the creeks which flow into the bay, are found in plentifulness and these sea shells converted into lime. In all things except the lime industry, Alviso has become a "ghost" town. In the lime industry, Alviso stands as a leader.

Fiction from the pen of a famous California writer tells us that the Spaniards discovered lime could be obtained from sea shells. The process is said to be a very unique one. The sea shells are permitted to dry in the sun and when they are dried to a definite crispness, the air acts on them in a definite chemical fashion. Next, they are dipped in a solution and the result is lime.

The Chinese were the first to put the industry on a big time basis. These observant sons of Confucius saw that there was a crusted film enveloped about the shells and by putting the shells under heat, they observed that all elements except the ingredients which constitute lime, escaped.

In various parts of Utah and Nevada, sea shell compositions have been discovered. It is said that thousands of years ago both of these states were under water and that the sea shell compositions definitely prove that fact. As far as is known, Alviso is the only town which makes a commercial proposition of the phenomena.

One of the managers of the Alviso Lime Association owns a Chevrolet Imperial Sedan. He is the authority for the statement that automobile tires are not affected by a lime composition.

Huge Rose Garden In Bloom Near Town of Puente

Once a vast desert like land covered with nothing but sage brush and cactus, a fertile valley near Puente, California, along the Union Pacific System right-of-way today stands out at one of the largest rose gardens in the world.

In place of the unsightly underbrush, the gray splotches of sage and rock covered land, there are 80-acres devoted exclusively to roses, with more than 2,500,000 bushes under cultivation. It has been conservatively estimated that more than 100,000,000 roses are now in bloom.

It is in dire contrast to the early days, this picturesque setting that leaves an everlasting memory with the travelers from the east, especially at this time of the year. Such a scene cannot be found anywhere else in the world.

In this group one finds all the leading varieties in existence as well as many fine novelties never before shown. The field covers a plot more than half mile square, bordering the Union Pacific main line. In one section there is a 25-acre block of Ragged Robins alone. The scent from these can be detected for more than half a mile, it is claimed.

The whole is the property of Howard & Smith, of Montebello, nurserymen and landscape architects, who have given the world a number of superb new varieties, including the famed Los Angeles rose.

As an education to youth, pupils from the Puente Grammar school, a few days ago, were treated to a sight of the field.

First Book of Law Now on Exhibition

Noted Volume Represents the
First Attempt to Print
Common Law

Pasadena Historical Society
Meets to Honor Old
Mill Days

The research department of the Huntington Library has just completed the copying of the first law book of Massachusetts, dated 1648, and it is certainly a rich find.

It represents the first attempt to put the common law of England in printed form. It is also the first copy of laws to be printed in the colonies.

These laws were printed in 1648 by order of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, 6000 copies of them being printed at the time.

Every one of the volumes disappeared from the country in the course of time, and the copy which found its way into the Huntington Library was discovered in 1906 in a library in England. It passed into the collection of E. Dwight Church, whose library was later purchased by Mr. Huntington. Up to this time no other copy of these laws has been found.

The printing of this volume under the direction of Dr. Max F. Randall represents considerable work, for time has effaced many parts of the original copy.

There is a biblical reference at the end of each law referring to book, chapter and verse of the Bible from which the law was derived.

On the fly-leaf in old English is to be noted this quotation from the Scriptures: "Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God; and they that resist, receive to themselves damnation." Romans 13:2.

Pacific, they took rakes, hoes and other garden tools and worked among the rose beds under expert instruction.

Many Co-eds Study Journalism at S. C.

Interest in newspaper training in colleges is availing.

According to Professor Roy L. French, chairman of the Department of Journalism of the University of Southern California, the number of students making newspaper writing and management their professional study this year at S. C. shows an increase of 56 per cent over last fall, while students enrolled in journalism courses for cultural and other reasons have increased 30 per cent.

In 1928 there were 115 Trojan students in the journalism classes, while in 1929 there are 150. Of these 45 are co-eds.

THOMAS ALVA EDISON

A Tribute

THAT NOTE of optimism which always has characterized the electrical industry of America is due, in no small measure, to the career of Mr. Edison. Here is an industry which was founded on vision, nourished on courage and which now, as ever, looks forward with full confidence toward the future, knowing that Mr. Edison and those others whose lives are dedicated to the work he established will have the ability to meet every obstacle that is encountered. No Golden Jubilee has ever been so permeated with the spirit of youth as that now being celebrated to commemorate the first incandescent lamp. It is no coincidence that the world's most notable progress has occurred during the half century which began on October 21, 1879. . . . R. H. Ballard, President Southern California Edison Co.

Ask an Equal Opportunity For Women

Soroptimist Club.

Mrs. Gertrude I. George, chairman of the election board, is founder and director of a Woman's service department in one of the large real estate firms of Los Angeles.

Some of the other officers of the Council who have done effective work during the past year are: Miss J. Frances Emans, lawyer and editor of the California Woman, official organ of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Miss Mamie Chase, who holds a responsible secretarial position with one of the large oil companies, is secretary of the business and professional women's club of Los Angeles; Mrs. Una R. Winter, citrus industry of Upland, is president of the Women's Club of Upland, and past president of the southern district, Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club; Miss Ethel Carroll, librarian of the public library of Oxnard, and president of the Southern District, Business and Professional Women's Club.

After the routine work of the meeting, short talks will be given on "Women in the Modern World" economically, politically and socially. The speakers, Mrs. Ada S. Watson, business manager of a Los Angeles golf accessories company and past director of the Soroptimist Club; Miss Vera O. Hess, traffic manager and past president of the Women's Traffic Club; Mrs. Clella Collins, editor, publisher and director of the Soroptimist Club; Miss Gertrude Mason, secretary to an air traffic manager of one of the air lines, and member of the Women's Aeronautic Assn.; Mrs. Hazel Grant, realtor, and president Pasadena Zonta Club; Miss Elizabeth Hayward, dietitian and president of California State Dietetic Assn.; Miss Nellie E. N. Bischoff, probate court commissioner and past president of the Women Lawyers Club; Miss Bertha L. Aldrich, certified public accountant and president of the Business Women's City Club; Miss Lloy Galpin, educator and past president of the High School Teachers' Association.

The purpose of the Business Women's Legislative Council of California is to bring about and maintain equal opportunity under the law for men and women in the business world; and to oppose discriminatory legislation against women engaged in gainful occupations.

The membership is composed of business and professional women who are in favor of work of the council. Clubs of organizations of business or professional women may take membership in the Council in the name of a member of their organization and such representative has the same rights and privileges as other members of the Council.

The Council took a very active part in the last legislative session in the defeat of three bills, which, if carried, would have placed every business and professional woman under the 8-hour law, and would have made her liable under the law, if she worked over the eight hours, by a fine or imprisonment or both fine and imprisonment.

The council is not opposing the present eight-hour law, but it does oppose its extension.

The president, Sue Brobst, has been actively opposed to the extension of the eight-hour law for women since 1913, at which time she and a group of business women prevented its extension. Miss Brobst is past president of Southern District, California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, charter member of the Women's Athletic Club, member of the Soroptimist Club, Women's Aeronautic Association, Nature Study Club and many other organizations.

THE SPIRIT OF INDEPENDENCE

OUR FOREFATHERS fought and bled for it. It is ours for the asking.

Independence! The ability to look the world squarely in the face and say: "I am a respected citizen in the community. My word is as good as gold. The tradespeople are glad to have my business. My name is an asset on their books."

Independence! Think what it means to your family—to yourself! It gives you standing in the community. It opens the door to bigger, better opportunities.

To have independence, you must meet your bills promptly. You must feel that you owe no one money, that you are respected everywhere.

The merchants have trusted you, and extended you the courtesy of credit, for your convenience. Your duty to them, and to yourself, is to meet your obligations when they fall due. You must be worthy of that trust. The merchant whose accounts are paid promptly will be able to buy newer and better merchandise. In turn, you and your family will profit again.

Meet your bills immediately—it pays, no matter which way you look at it.

Let's Meet Our Obligations Promptly

MR. AND MRS. TWY-CROSS ENJOYING TRIP

A card received by the Sierra Madre News Thursday states that Mr. and Mrs. S. R. G. Twycross are thoroughly enjoying their trip to the northern part of the state, but are rather "hungry" to hear news of the old home town. The card reads as follows: "Eureka, Calif., Oct. 15. We are enjoying this old city with its miles of Redwood trees, large lumber mills and lovely bay. After an all-day's trip on the waters of Lake Tahoe, also a moon-light trip, very enjoyable, on the steamer. We have done San Francisco pretty well but have Monterey, Del Monte, Carme, etc., to do yet. Haven't heard a word from Sierra Madre yet, so will have to make the trip back to find out. Mrs. T. and I are in good health."

HARTMAN ATTENDS CINE CLUB

Rudolph Hartman was one of the fifty amateurs and dealers representing Southern California who gathered Tuesday evening at 8 at the Eastman Kodak Co. Laboratories in Hollywood. Plans were laid that will culminate in the formation of a Cine Club in Southern California, a local section of the International Amateur Cinema League. Wm. Horsey, builder of the first studio and laboratory in Hollywood, presided.

A CORRECTION

In last week's paper in the announcement concerning the re-inforced cement incinerators handled by the Sierra Madre Hardware Company, reference was made to "cast-iron gates" instead of cast-iron grates. This correction is made because Mr. Hull explains that the matter of castiron grates is one of the most attractive points about this incinerator which is winning such general approval here.
